Roy Leonard Atkinson [February 13, 1990]

Roy Leonard Atkinson, 85, formerly of 1005 E. Washington St., died at 3:05 p.m. Monday, Feb. 12, 1990, at the Medicalodge North Nursing Home where he had been a patient since March 12, 1984.

He was born on Nov. 26, 1904, in Bakersfield, Mo. He lived in Pittsburg most of his life except for a few years spent in Kansas City.

Mr. Atkinson, who was blind, attended what is now known as Pittsburg State University and received his teaching degree. He taught at the School for the Blind in Kansas City and taught students in Braille and English. While living in Pittsburg he worked in the coal mines, operated a broom shop at Seventh and Broadway and then raised rabbits at his home on Washington Street.

Membership was held in the Church of Christ.

Survivors include one brother, Charles Buffington of the Medicalodge North and three sisters, Lena Baloh of 520 W. 20th, Lucille Buffington of, 315 W. Adams and Louise Aikman of 606 E. 22nd. He is preceded in death by three brothers, Cecil Buffington, Lester Buffington ad [sic] Robert Buffington and by a sister, Geneva Mason.

Graveside services will be 10 a.m. Wednesday in the Mt. Olive Cemetery, with the Rev. B.W. Forehand of the Pittsburg Baptist Temple officiating. Friends may call at the Bath-Naylor Funeral Home, 522 S. Broadway, after 1 p.m.
Roy Leonard Atkinson

Roy Leonard Atkinson, 85, formerly of 1005 E. Washington St., died at 3:05 p.m. Monday, Feb. 12, 1990, at the Medicalodge North Nursing Home where he had been a patient since March 12, 1984.

He was born on Nov. 26, 1904, in Bakersfield, Mo. He lived in Pittsburg most of his life except for a few years spent in Kansas City.

Mr. Atkinson, who was blind, attended what is now known as Pittsburg State University and received his teaching degree. He taught at the School for the Blind in Kansas City and taught students in Braille and English.

While living in Pittsburg he worked in the coal mines, operated a broom shop at Seventh and Broadway and then raised rabbits at his home on Washington Street.

Membership was held in the Church of Christ.

Survivors include one brother, Charles Buffington of the Medicalodge North and three sisters, Lena Baloh of 520 W. 20th, Lucille Buffington of 315 W. Adams and Louise Aikman of 606 E. 22nd. He is preceded in death by three brothers, Cecil Buffington, Lester Buffington and Robert Buffington and by a sister, Geneva Mason.

Graveside services will be 10 a.m. Wednesday in the Mt. Olive Cemetery, with the Rev. B.W. Forehand of the Pittsburg Baptist Temple officiating. Friends may call at the Bath-Naylor Funeral Home, 522 S. Broadway, after 1 p.m.